Welcome to the Jeseníky Region

The Jeseníky tourism region offers a variety of beautiful terrain, from flatlands on up to mountain ridges. With an average elevation of 1,350 m above sea level, the Jeseníky mountain range, dominated by Mt. Praděd (1,492 m) to the east and Králický Sněžník (1424 m) to the west, stretches across the northernmost tip of Moravia. This harsh but romantic landscape offers ideal conditions for hiking, cycling, skiing, and other recreational activities.

The Jeseníky region is a mountain paradise with numerous natural, historical, and technical places of interest. The local mountain towns come to life with various events in the summer – from folklore and blues festivals to a gold panning contest at the Gold Ore Mines. Dlouhé Stráně, the third largest pumped-storage electric plant in the world, as well the oldest factory in Europe producing handmade paper offer fascinating experiences. Numerous landmarks in the region are connected with historical events, including the infamous witch trials. The Jeseníky region offers winter sports enthusiasts a wide selection of resorts and regularly groomed cross-country trails.

Favourable climatic conditions and mineral springs have produced a number of spa towns, including Jeseník, Lipová-lázně, Karlová Studánka, and Velké Losiny. The region also offers Czech and foreign tourists many geological places of interest, caves, cascades, waterfalls, cliffs, and a great diversity of flora and fauna.

JESENÍKY MT. PROTECTED NATURE AREA, EDUCATIONAL TRAILS, NATIONAL NATURE RESERVES

Jeseníky Mt. Protected Nature Area

The Jeseníky Mt. Protected Nature Area was established in 1969 on an area of 740 km². The highest point is Mt. Praděd at an altitude of 1,492 m. The territory is 80% covered by forests, mainly secondary spruce or beech with islands of preserved remnants of natural forests. The most valuable territories of protected nature areas are located in 4 national natural reservations (Praděd, Šerák - Keprník, Rejvíz, Rašeliniště Skříttek), 18 nature reservations, and 6 natural landmark sites. The mission of the protected nature area is to pass on the landscape and natural heritage in a highly preserved state to future generations.

The Jeseníky Mt. Protected Nature Area is located at the northern edge of Moravia and the Czech part of Silesia on the border of the Moravian-Silesian and Olomouc Regions in the districts of Bruntál, Jeseník, and Šumperk.

Six educational trails were created to help visitors discover the diversity of the territory and to make the most valuable areas of the Jeseníky Mt. Protected Nature Area accessible to the public.

Education Trails in the Jeseníky Mt. Protected Nature Area

Velká kotlina education trail

The 6 km hiking trail in the Praděd National Nature Reserve runs through the most attractive botanical territories of European significance in the Jeseníky Mt. Protected Nature Area. Seven stations present the unique local flora and fauna and explain the effects of the anemographic system on the biodiversity and geomorphology of the glacial rock basin.

Rejvíz education trail

The 3 km hiking trail runs partially along an elevated path in the Rejvíz National Nature Reserve to the centre of the largest Moravian peat bog and the Great Moss Lake. Five stations familiarize visitors with the rich peat meadow societies and the typical species of the flood plain highlands.

Bílá Opava education trail

This 3 km hiking trail runs through the deep romantic valley of Bílá Opava Stream in the Praděd National Nature Reserve. Information panels at six stations introduce visitors to typical geomorphologic phenomena, the extraordinary landscape value, and the ancient character of the original spruce stands.

Červenohorské sedlo – Šerák – Ramzová education trail

Eight stations on the 9 km hiking trail running along the main mountain ridge introduce visitors to natural and historical points of interest in the territory, a small exhibition at the chapel at Vřesová studánka, and the valuable culture and endangered species in the Šerák-Keprník National Nature Reserve, the oldest reserve such facility in Moravia.

Sobotín – Maršíkov mineralogical education trail

The first of its kind in the Czech Republic, this 12 km hiking trail leads visitors to six significant mineralogy locations in the Jeseníky Mts.

Pasák education trail

Restored in 2000, this 12.5 km hiking trail with 14 stations is remarkable for the breadth of its features. Panels provide visitors information concerning the natural value of the territory as well as the cultural-historical and technical points of interest in the magnificent Branná area.

Additional Education Trails

Mining education trail

The education trail is a loop that begins and ends at the Town Museum on the town square in Zlaté Hory. The trail starts out along the blue hiking trail around the bus station and runs to Příčná Hora. The difference in altitude between the lowest and highest points is 545 m. The well-marked education trail is a 14 km loop that takes 6 hours to walk.

The Cunning Little Vixen education trail

With the exception of several hundred metres the red trail (Loštice – Doly) runs along quiet field and forest paths. Romantic Bouzov Castle dominates many views along the trail. The trail begins at the town hall on the square in Loštice and runs past the synagogue, through the Žadlovice park and the Střítež woods to Veselí and ends below Bouzov Castle. It is possible to return to Loštice on the hiking trail running through the Třebůvka River Valley.

Kralický Sněžník education trail

The education trail begins in the town of Dolní Morava and runs along the yellow trail through the Morava River Valley to the source of the river below the peak of Kralický Sněžník. The trail then continues along the red hiking markers to the crossroads above Adeline Spring, from where it follows the yellow markers and ends at Návrší lodge. The trail can also be hiked in the opposite direction from Návrší lodge past the source of the Morava River to the town of Dolní Morava. The total length of the education trail is 14 km.

Vincenz Priessnitz trail

The Vincenz Priessnitz trail is a 7 km loop that begins and ends at the first information panel at the Jeseník Spa by the final public transport station - Sanatorium Priessnitz. The trail is marked with signs featuring a blue drop on a white square and is intended for hikers, as several segments are inaccessible to cyclists.

The trail features 9 information panels that introduce visitors to the important historical period that has influenced the Jeseník area up to the present day – the development of the natural spa industry and the remarkably interesting life of Vincenz Priessnitz, the founder of the first water treatment institute in the world.

Educational trail the Ztracených štol valley

Today in the valley of river Olejnice a replica of a medieval mining town is being built. The instructional nature trail will also take you to a place of optical illusions, where "water flows up-hill". The European and Czech and Slovak Republic championships in gold panning have taken place in Zlaté Hory, as well as the annual Gold Pan contest awarded by the town mayor.

National Nature Reserves

Praděd National Nature Reserve

The Praděd National Nature Reserve, one of the largest in the Czech Republic, was created in 1991 by connecting the six state nature reserves of Petrovy kameny, Velká kotlina, Malá kotlina, Mt. Praděd, Divoký důl, and Bílá Opava. The territory features the preserved nature of the highest locations in the Jeseníky Mts. with the character of the northern tundra found in the Alps and Polar regions. The natural treeless landscape above the upper border of the forest at an altitude of 1,350 m has a bare and rocky Alpine character. Forest stands cover the lower portions of the reserve; these are 7th degree beech-spruce and 8th degree spruce forests. These are climax spruce groves with a mixture of rowan trees; beech and sycamore are found at lower elevations and in some places have an ancient forest character. Located in the Bílá Opava River Valley and near the Eustach Lodge are unique remnants of mountain spruce stands of a Jeseník eco-type with a characteristic low conical crown and slanted branches.

Rašeliniště Skřítek National Nature Reserve

The smallest Jeseníky Mt. national nature reserve protects a peat spruce forest with fragments of peat birch groves and natural tree-less peat areas. The spruce stands are characterized by a low density and a large amount of fallen dead wood. The central part of the reserve has a tundra character with individual specimens of Carpathian birch. Scrub pine was planted in only a few locations. Bryophytes, especially peat moss, are dominant in the peat bog; the site also features several species of sedge. Rarer plants include Swertia perennis, Aconitum plicatum, Doronicum austriacum, Listera ovata, Listera ovata, and Listera cordata. The mountain newt is found in the area. The territory is an important nesting site for black stork, Tengmalm's owl, and forest grouse. Colonies of subalpine ants are occurring with greater frequency. The forest stands are over 160 years old.

Rejvíz National Nature Reserve

The Rejvíz Reserve includes the largest complex of highland peat bogs, flooded spruce groves, and peat meadows in Moravia. Thanks to a high groundwater level the core of the reserve is completely treeless and forms a vast active peat bog. The peat bog has two parts – the Small and Great Moss Lakes. The Small Moss Lake is mostly filled in today and is surrounded by impenetrable stands of marsh pine reaching to the easternmost edge of the lake. In addition to marsh pine the peat groves also feature Carpathian beech and scattered Norway spruce. This type of forest has virtually no tracheophyte undergrowth and mostly features peat and other mosses. Regularly occurring fauna in Rejvíz include the northern bat and a great number of nesting birds such as the black woodpecker, Tengmalm's owl, Whinchat, Corn Crane, and black stork.

The Šerák – Keprník National Nature Reserve

Declared by the Liechtenstein family back in 1903, today this reserve is the oldest in Moravia. The reserve is located on the top sections of the Hrubý Jeseník Mt. ridge at an altitude of 950 – 1,423 m, stretching from Trojmezí to Obří skály, including the peaks of Vozka, Keprník, and Šerák. The average annual temperature is 2.2°C and total average annual precipitation is about 1,200 mm. The area is covered with snow for 180 days during the year. The reserve is interesting mainly due to the occurrence of well-preserved rock and earth formations that were created by the harsh Ice Age climate. The greatest reservation significance is connected to the bare alpine grasslands with highland rush, black crowberry, Sudeten bluebell bellflower, tufted fescue, and Narcissus Anepoe. Occurring in connection with the spring area are the critically threatened Spotted Gentian, Aconitum napellus, and Adenostyles alliariae. Rare fauna in the reserve include wood grouse, which until recently occurred in greater numbers. The black grouse is also becoming increasingly rare. More compo bird species such as spotted nutcracker, ring ouzel, and the tree pipit also nest in the territory.

CAVES, OBSERVATION TOWERS

Přírodní zajímavosti – Jeskyně

Na Špičáku Caves

(Písečná – 50°17'0.54"N, 17°14'59"E)

The first written mention of the caves dates to 1430 (Anthonius Wale). The numerous inscriptions on the walls (the oldest from 1519) are proof that they often served as a point of refuge. In 1884–1885 the caves were opened to the public in a primitive form by the Sudeten Mountain Association; the form in which the caves are open today dates to 1955. The over 400 metre-long labyrinth of corridors and crevices was created in Devon marble (350–380 million year old sea deposits). The development of the krast area was significantly influenced by melting glaciers, which gave the caves their final appearance and the corridors their characteristic heart-shaped profile. The 230 metre-long tour trail is barrier-free.

Na Pomezí Caves

(Lipová-Lázně – 50°13'39.97"N, 17°8'25.6"E)

The Na Pomezí Caves are located 2 km north of the town of Lipová-lázně. While already partially known prior to 1936, the caves were thoroughly explored in 1949 and opened to the public in 1955. The total length of the tour trail is 530 metres. The Na Pomezí Caves are the largest system of caves in the Czech Republic created by the dissolution of marble, i.e. crystallized limestone. The caves are distinguished by narrow and in places high crevice corridors, which at intersections widen into small chambers. Bulging shapes are typical for these caves, creating cascades and massive jagged stalactites and stalagmites.

Zlatý chlum – Jeseník

(Jeseník – 50°14'16.97"N, 17°14'15.07"E)

The peak of Zlatý Chlum (875 m above sea level) is the dominant feature of the Jeseník area. The construction of 26 metre-high stone tower was entrusted to Alois Nitzsche. The tower was opened on 3 September 1899; three years later the Medritz mountain lodge was built next to the tower. The lodge is operated year-round. Following the Second World War interest in the Zlatý Chlum facility dropped off considerably. The lodge burned in 1955 and the isolated tower, left unmaintained, fell into disrepair. Finally in the 1970's the town office of Jeseník reconstructed the tower and reopened it to the public.

The tower was rebuilt twice over the succeeding years, as the unmaintained wood construction collapsed under the strain of the wind. A new 25 m observation tower opened to the public in October 2006 stands on the site today. The tower is built on a circular floor plan and features a steel construction with a wooden casing. The structure also includes a brick shelter for tourists. The observation deck is located at the height of 24 m and the highest point of the tower is 26.1 m.

(Žárová – 50°3'14.78"N, 17°0'53.8"E)

While smaller and less ornate than the church in Maršíkov the church in Žárová is nevertheless more important from a historical construction point of view. Built in 1610 or 1611, the plan to build a Lutheran church in Žárová had already been forwarded by Jan of Žerotín. It is said that he intended to donate material for the building from the razed church in Velké Losiny. The rectangular timber church has a polygonal end, an attached quadratic tower, and a vestibule and oblong sacristy on the evangelical side of the building. The presbytery features false surbased wooden vaulting, the nave has a joist ceiling, and the sacristy has a timber ceiling.

(Loštice – 49°44'40.92"N, 16°55'44.12"E)

The synagogue was reconstructed in 1805 – 1806 in the Classicist style. The building was used not only for religious services, but also served, for example, as a reading room and classrooms. Still visible on the inside today are the original entrance hall, the vestibule, the sanctuary with a prussian vault and stucco ornamentation, as well as a women's gallery on the upper floor. The synagogue is currently under reconstruction and an exhibit documenting the history of the Jewish community in Loštice is open during the summer months.

PILGRIMAGE SITES

Vřesová Studánka

(Site of the former pilgrimage Sorrowful Mother of God Chapel)

(Loučná nad Desnou)

A wooden mountain chapel was built at the site in the 1930's. On 30 May 1946 the chapel burnt to the ground after being struck by lightning, and in 1987 the cottage originally intended as a shelter for pilgrims was torn down. Only the water chapel below the spring remained. In the 1990's a cairn was built on the foundations of the chapel presbytery. A relief of the Madonna and child was installed on the stone along with a cast-iron crucifix that had survived the fire to the original chapel and had weathered the adversities of the intervening years. A legend is connected to the origin of the pilgrimage site and the curative powers of the water. A gamekeeper shot a deer and then laid the animal in such a way as to allow water to flow into its throat while dressing the carcass. But the deer jumped up and ran off. When the warden later fell gravely ill, he visited the spring and made a miraculous recovery.

ACCESS ROUTE:

Located on the hiking trail between Červenohorské sedlo and Keprník, the spring is the highest pilgrimage site in Moravia (1,300 metres above sea level).

The Holy Trinity

(Malá Morava)

Today's stone and brick chapel with a flat plastered ceiling was built in a simple style in the year 1898. The wooden altar bears a venerated painting of the Holy Trinity. Scenes from the Stations of the Cross painted on tin hang from trees lining the approach alley.

Legend claims that some time in the middle of the 18th century a violinist was on his way home from a feast. Exhausted from the long day and the journey, he fell asleep under a giant beech tree. All at once he awoke to find a large bear approaching. Without a moment's hesitation the violinist climbed the beech tree in the belief that the bear would leave him be. But the bear snuggled up to the base of the tree and it was clear he was in no hurry to go anywhere. The musician began to pray and when dawn broke the gamekeeper arrived, shot the bear, and liberated the violinist.

PILGRIMAGE SITES, MUSEUMS

Mother of God Mountain

(Králíky)

The majority of buildings were erected between 1696 and 1710 and the original facility also dates to the turn of the 18th century. Worthy of mention are a set of rare sculptures by students of Mathias Bernard Braun that once stood in chapels along the road from the town. However, these works of art were seriously damaged by vandals in the 1950s. They were later restored and today are on display in the church in Vraclav near Vysoké Mýto. Another treasure is the set of altars with leaf-shaped carved ornamentation from around 1700 that are housed in cloister recesses. Yet another rarity is the uniform pseudo-Renaissance furnishings of the pilgrimage church from 1883–1907. The interior design of the entire church was performed by the firm of Ferdinand Stuflesser of St. Ulrich – Grödental in South Tyrol. The statues and altars are carved from stone pine. The founding was the result of a promise by Králíky native Tobias Jan Becker, a St. Vitus canon and later the bishop of Hradec Králové. During the Thirty Years War children from Králíky and the surrounding areas came here to pray and sing Marian songs.

ACCESS ROUTE:

The Marian pilgrimage site at Mother of God Mountain rises above the town of Králíky on the Polish border below Králický Sněžník.

The pilgrimage Church of the Virgin Mary of Mercy (Maria Hilf)

(Zlaté Hory)

The site began to draw its first pilgrims in the 17th century. Within ten years a chapel was built on the site of the birth of a baby boy named Martin and in a short time at least five miraculous recoveries occurred. Due to the growing number of believers the wooden chapel was replaced by a brick church in the years 1834–1841. Gifts from the faithful were used to gradually build a Stations of the Cross and dozens of shrines and chapels. But in 1955 services and the pilgrimages were stopped. Despite protests by church dignitaries and the faithful the church was torn down in 1973. A new church was built and consecrated in 1993–1995 and a new Stations of the Cross was built on the site of the one that had been destroyed. With the Swedish army approaching the town in 1647 the local residents abandoned their property and fled to the mountains. Anna Tannheiserová, the pregnant wife of the local butcher, found a safe sanctuary on the mountain known as Lord's Blessing. At the onset of labour pain she begged the Lord and the Holy Virgin for help. On July 18th she gave birth to her son Martin and returned home shortly afterwards. The boy went on to become an esteemed citizen and the mayor of his town. In 1718 his daughter had Sipo Schwarz of Prudnice paint a picture of the Virgin Mary of Mercy and hung the work at the site where her father was born.

The Baroque pilgrimage Church of the Virgin Mary of Mercy (Bruntál)

The church is situated on Uhlířský vrch and was built in the years 1755–1765 by Krnov architect Jiří Friedrich Gans on the site of a former chapel. The original wooden pilgrimage chapel was built in 1653 by Order Proconsul Oswald of Liechtenstein as a visible symbol of the victory of Catholic forces over the Protestants. A “miraculous” painting of the Virgin Mary (a copy of the work by Lucas Cranach) was then placed in the new pilgrimage church. After all, the mythical human fate of this saint was particularly close to the unfortunate destiny of subjugated people. Of particular interest are the exterior mosaics depicting Sts. Peter and Paul (1925) on the front entrance. The church underwent repairs in 1991–92. A linden tree alley that is approximately one kilometre long and which runs from the church to the town and the main road was planted in 1760 when the church was being built. Augustin Oswald Lichtenstein, proconsul of the Teutonic Knights, got lost here during a hunt and was rescued near death by a coalman. To express his gratitude to the man he had a wooden chapel built here in 1654 and acquired for it a copy of the famous painting Madonna and Child by Lucas Cranach the Elder, who lived in the years 1472–1553.

ACCESS ROUTE:

The pilgrimage church is located 2 km southwest from Bruntál, on a hill on the right side of the road to Moravský Kočov.

THE CULINARY ARTS

Genuine Olomouc Tvarůžky

(Loštice – 49°44'46.1"N, 16°55'40.13"E)

Genuine Olomouc Tvarůžky are a soft, low-fat, ripened cheese made from sour skim curd. The cheese has an entirely unique piquant flavour, a highly characteristic aroma, a golden-yellow surface, and a cohesive semi-soft to soft consistency with a slightly lighter centre. The long-standing tradition of this delicacy is documented by an appearance on inheritance records in Olomouc from 1583. This marked the first time the term Tvarůžky was used for the cheese.

Holba Brewery

(Hanušovice – 50°4'11.83"N, 16°55'39.76"E)

The Holba Brewery is situated at the foot of the Jeseníky Mountains. This pure mountain beer has been brewed here since the founding of the brewery by young brewmaster Josef Müllschitzký in 1874. A modern steam factory when it was built, the original brewing volume reached 22,400 hectolitres per year, or 40,000 casks. Today the Holba Brewery is one of the ten largest breweries in the Czech Republic and produces nearly 0.5 million hectolitres of beer annually. The distinguished flavour and high quality of Holba beer is the result of the use of the finest ingredients and spring water from the company's own deep well, and above all from the masterful work of the Hanušovice brewers. The numerous awards the pure mountain beer has received at home and abroad are proof that both consumers and experts alike enjoy Holba.

Excellent Brewery Hotel

(Rýmařov – 49°55'51.54"N, 17°16'8.05"E)

The Excellent Brewery restored the brewing tradition in Rýmařov that was discontinued 100 years ago. The brewery is located in a reconstructed former civic brewery where beer had been made as far back as 1662. Beer is now brewed according to old recipes, which give the beverage a special, characteristic flavour. The beer is served in its natural condition without heat or chemical stabilization.

The production of hosts and wafers

(Bílá Voda – 50°26'31.02"N, 16°54'56.49"E)

In 1980 plans began for the construction of a host production facility in Bílá Vodá and work was completed in 1985. The building project was directed by the St. Vincent de Paul Daughters of Charity, who took over the production of hosts from the Dominicans. Prepostratensian sisters worked at the facility from 1994 to 2001. Since 2001 only civilians have worked in the company Unita, but the main product continues to be hosts. These are shipped to parishes and shops throughout the entire country. In 2003 Unita expanded production to include spa wafers.

Priessnitz liqueur

(Mikulovice – 50°17'54.74"N, 17°19'17.58"E)

The liqueur is produced in honour of the Czech traditional doctor Vincenz Priessnitz, who discovered the therapeutic effects of cool water and founded the first water treatment institute in the world. The liqueur, a unique herbal beverage originating in the pristine environment of the Jeseníky Mountains, is a special combination of herbs and citrus fruit macerated in the finest spirits. The balanced recipe has been adapted to the latest demands on herbal liqueurs for flavour and aroma. Priessnitz liqueur is an authentic drink for all occasions and is excellent as an aperitif and as an ingredient in unusual cocktails.
